The Empress Worried The French Cabinet.

Secretary Foster's Duties Begin To-morrow.

Court Etiquette.
By Cable and Associated Press.]

PARIS, Feb. 25—An organization known as the League Patriots has violently denounced the visit of Empress Frederick of Germany to the Palace of Versailles on Monday last. The League has decided not to hold a meeting of protest until the Imperial visitor leaves the city.

It is known here that in Berlin it was expected that President Carnot would call upon Empress Frederick, but after a special cabinet meeting was held, it was decided that, as Empress Frederick was traveling incognito, the French Government could compromise matters by sending the chief of President Carnot's military household, General Brugere, and M. Ribot, Minister of Foreign Affairs, to call upon the Empress. This accordingly was done. This question of etiquette was undoubtedly the cause of much anxiety and worry to members of the French Cabinet, and was made the subject of a long and earnest discussion before it was finally concluded that the Government could not dare to risk the verdict of public opinion in case President Carnot called upon the imperial visitor.

By Associated Press.]

JEFFERSONVILLE (Ind.), Feb. 25.—A tornado passed over here at midnight. No damage was done in the city except blowing down the bell tower at Howard's ship yard. Houses were rocked like cradles. A fertilizer factory, two miles north of here, miles of fencing and entire orchards were devastated.

The greatest damage was done at Utica, where many houses, barns and other buildings were demolished and cattle killed. The damage will reach many thousand dollars.

California Legislature.
Special to GAZETTE.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 25.—Carpenter's anti-mortgage tax Constitutional amendment came up and was amended by Hamill, so that it reverted to the old law. It was then indefinitely postponed.

The Jute plant Bill was sent to the Committee on Buildings and Finance, with instructions that it be reported back on Friday evening.

Ostroms bill appropriating $160,000 for constructing the Jute plant at Folsom prison was taken up.

The Committee on Public Morals reported favorably the bill making it an offense to employ women in saloons.

HOUSE.

The Bill appropriating $9,000 for contingent expenses of the Assembly was made the special order for this afternoon.

The Legislative apportionment bill was taken up. Shannahan offered an amendment cutting Humboldt county down from two to one Assemblymen. Amendment lost. He then moved to have Trinity attached to Shasta instead of Modoc. This amendment also lost.

Renfroe offered an amendment taking Lake from Colusa and adding it to Yolo. Amendment lost. Shannahan again urged that Shasta might be shorn of Modoc and left to stand as a district by itself.

Gould asked that bill 192 be taken from the third reading and passed as a matter of urgency in view of the recent floods in the southern part of the State. The bill provides for the organization and government of levee districts created for protection of lands from overflow.

Insurance Company Involved.
By Associated Press.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Attorney General Hunt to-day filed a bill in the Circuit Court to dissolve the Consolidated Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Chicago. Examination into the affairs of the Company November last, disclosed the facts that its capital was impaired $39,000. Auditor Pavey, upon whose relation the bill was brought, discovered ninety pages had been cut or torn from the journal of the company. It is claimed the bookkeeper tore the pages from the book to conceal errors which it contained and the incompetent manner in which it was kept.

The insurance risks in force amount to $3,113,000. The company is not licensed to transact business outside of Illinois, and it is said it has unlawful risks in other States amounting to almost $3,000,000, and notes or contingent liabilities which amount to $192,000. In January, 1891, the company ceased to transact business and made a pretended assignment to George H. Rickey. The Attorney-General seeks to set aside the assignment and to have a receiver appointed to take charge of the assets and wind up the business. Judge Collins has issued an injunction restraining the disposition of the assets until a final hearing.

The unjust reapportionate bill will pass the House. Bell, Clifford, George, Gignoux, Groves, Hayes, Kinney, Leeper, McFadden, Richards, Sexton, Trembly and Van Emon opposed the unconstitutional farce whereby Lander and Lincoln do not get justice. It is hoped that the Governor, in his wisdom, will veto the damnable scheme.

Barbed Wire Combine.
By Associated Press.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—The Attorneys for Washburn and Moen and manufacturers of barbed wire, are going over the contract for the sale by the former to the latter, of the barbed wire patents and it is stated the transaction will almost certainly be completed at some time during the day. When this matter has been completed, the directors of the company formed by the manufacturers to purchase the patents, will meet and fix the royalty to be paid under the new arrangement. It is thought probable that the present royalty of $1.00 per ton will be continued. The question of prices will also be considered.

South American Securities.
By Cable and Associated Press.]

LONDON, Feb. 25.—The Stock Exchange's fears in regard to South American securities have been dispelled by the announcement that the house which was thought to be deeply involved has fair prospects of tiding over its trouble, and that the connected firm of South American railway contractors has secured assistance from French finances to continue its contracts. The decision of the Martins, bankers, and of Baring's and other large houses, to publish their accounts under the limited liability law, also gives a feeling of strength.

Lives Lost in Floods.
Special to the GAZETTE.]

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 25.—Up to noon to-day the reports showed that at least six persons had lost their lives in the floods. The family of Charles Watts is also missing, from near Downey, and it is supposed they were drowned.

The Wells family, consisting of a man, wife and babe, were drowned at Duarte, and the bodies of two Mexicans were found in the same neighborhood. S. Laurens was drowned at Wilmington, near San Pedro, while trying to rescue some cattle.

The worst of the flood was presumably at Downey and vicinity. The old and new San Gabriel rivers broke from their banks, ran together and made a great inland sea from six to ten miles wide and seventeen miles long. Many houses were swept away, and a number of families occupying the territory inundated have not been heard from. Shots were heard in Downey on Monday forenoon, fired at Watts' ranch house, supposed to be a signal of distress. The house was soon swept away, and it is feared the whole family went down.

Congressional.
By Associated Press.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The Senate has adjourned as a mark of respect to the late Senator Wilson of Maryland.

HOUSE.

In the House to-day, Hitt, chairman of the committee on foreign affairs, reported from that committee the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill, with a recommendation that all Senate amendments be concurred in with the exception of the one which makes an appropriation for the Hawaiian cable, in which nonconcurrence is recommended. There was a question raised as to limitation of debate and as no determination could be arrived at, Hitt withdrew the report. The intention is to bring it up to-morrow or some succeeding day of the last six days of Congress beginning to-morrow, to ask that it be agreed to under suspension of the rules.

McKinley, from the Committee on Rules, reported a resolution providing that to-morrow the House shall meet at 10 o'clock and shall immediately proceed to the consideration of the shipping Bill, the general debate to close at 1 o'clock. Friday the House shall meet at 10 o'clock and proceed to the consideration of the Bill by paragraphs, the previous question to be considered as ordered at 5 o'clock.

Blount of Georgia protested against the method of doing business, but said that as a member of the Committee on Rules he had agreed to the resolution with the view of getting as much opportunity of debate as possible. It was the best the minority members could make out of the situation.

McKinley of Tennessee, another minority member of the Committee on Rules, took the same position. He then inveighed against the code of rules and pointed to the truth of the prophecy he had made in the beginning of Congress. He had said the rules had been adopted for four reasons: To pass the Election bill, which subjected the ballot box to the bayonet. That had been done. To pass the Direct Tax bill. That had been done. To pass the Tariff bill, which should rob the people. That had been done. To pass the bill placing further taxes upon the depressed and burdened interior for the benefit of the shipping interests. That was about to be done.

Dockery of Missouri called attention to the fact that under the rules up to the present time the net increase of appropriations made by the present Congress was $102,000,000, as compared with the appropriations made by the last Congress.

Cannon of Illinois said the House could ill spare two days, but he had yielded to the general desire that the Shipping bill should be considered and he had acquiesced.

In the resolution he gave notice, however, that if the order were made he would ask the House to sit to-night and to-morrow night for the consideration of the appropriation bills. McKinley denied that the practice of making special orders had originated in this Congress; it had been the practice of every Congress since 1886, but in former Congresses it was done in violation of the rules, and now it was done under direct authority of the rules. The majority were responsible for public legislation and it should be permitted to put its purpose into public law to be tried only before the great tribunal of the American people. [Republican applause.]

"You have been tried," and "You have been weighed in the balance and found wanting," were some of the remarks that came in chorus from the Democratic side.

McKinley—To that tribunal we confidently commit the work of the fifty-first Congress. If gentlemen of the other side imagine the verdict last November was based on the public legislation of fifty-first Congress, they are much mistaken and in error. I do not believe there is a gentleman who has studied the causes that led to the verdict last November who can conscientiously declare that it was based on the work of this Congress.

What was it, queried the Democrats?

McKinley—The majority on this floor having only a few days [derisive laughter on Democratic side] and all of us being here with our seats well filled, we propose to go on and complete the work of the fifty-first Congress, no matter what obstruction may be put in our way by gentlemen on that side of the chamber. [Republican applause.]

The resolution was then adopted; yeas, 139; nays, 114.

Immigration bill was then taken up, the pending question being on Oates substitute, which was rejected, and the bill was passed. The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Agricultural appropriation bill.

THE Nicaragua Canal is second in importance, of course, only to the Suez Canal among the great works of modern times. The refusal of the United States Government to take charge of this work under the administration of President Cleveland caused a temporary suspension of the enterprise. Thereupon, however, a private company was organized, and in another shape the United States Government has again taken it up—a shape in which it is said that the constitutional difficulties in the way of the original plan have been avoided. This matter has been in the hands of the Finance Committee of the Senate during this session of Congress, of which Senator Sherman is chairman, and this committee has prepared a favorable report for an appropriation to push the work to completion. An explanation of this report and of the committee's reasons therefor, as well as of the commercial importance of the canal itself, will be made in The Forum of March, by Senator Sherman himself. He goes into detail in explaining the financial aspects of the plan, as well, of course, as its political bearings, and thus at once thrusts the subject forward as a matter of public concern.

SALT LAKE CITY officials are placing themselves in position for investigation by the Grand Jury on the same charge that was preferred against our county dads, as will be seen by the Tribune, which says: "This city is becoming the mecca of all the sick and penniless men of the the intermountain country. Hardly a week passes without some poor devil appearing before the County Court requesting admittance to the County Infirmary. Owing to the already over-crowded condition of that institution, and also as a matter of economy, the Court very often furnishes transportation to the applicant to wherever he has relatives or friends willing to care for him. A case of this kind happened last week, and after $59 80 had been advanced by the County Clerk out of his own pocket and the pauper hundreds of miles on his journey, it was learned that he had been forwarded here by the authorities of Idaho, who did not care to burden the tax-payers with his support. The next Idaho specimen will be labeled C. O. D. and shipped back."

TWENTY-TWO days more and the agony will be over. We shall all know then just what has been accomplished in the way of beneficial legislation; we shall all know just how near the people's chosen representatives have come to living up to their pledges, and who to praise and who to censure. Thus far nothing has been done of real practical benefit to the commonwealth, and we must say the prospects are not at all encouraging for much to be done. The Fifteenth session could have immortalized itself in the history of Nevada legislation if its members had been true to their pledges, and it is not too late now to do a good deal of good, and go far towards returning the obligation if they will get down to work and labor diligently for the people's cause from now on. But will they do it? There is most certainly no surplus to be disposed of as in the days of Governor Bradley, and nothing in the way of the members getting down to business if they are so disposed.

THE crusade of the free silver element of the Democracy against Cleveland is going on in various directions. The manufacture of sentiment is progressing according to usual methods, by the publication of interviews, private letters, etc., giving the ideas of prominent Democrats in various sections of the country. It is noticeable that most of these adverse comments come from the south and west.

THOUSANDS of Hungarians crazed with drink and armed with clubs and revolvers, are driving men from their work in Pennsylvania because they do not join in the demands of the rioters The immigration of this lawless people does the cause of American labor no good. There is good reason to believe that many of them are landed in violation of our Immigration laws.

THE EASTERN DANCE.

It Is a Product of Physical Endurance Begun in Early Youth.

One of the most attractive features of the recent exposition in Paris was the Eastern dancing girls. In half a dozen or more booths or tents, scattered about the grounds, these strangers of another world and civilization held their unique receptions. The spectacle, to Western eyes, is so entirely new and unprecedented that the first effect of it is mere astonishment. After further experience its strangeness begins to resolve itself into beauty; we can discriminate between the comparative merits of dancers, and dispense applause judiciously, writes Julian Hawthorne in Dress.

A narrow stage occupies one end of the room, which may be thirty-six feet square. On the stage, in a semi-circle, sit the dancers and the musicians. The latter produce a concert chiefly with a sort of drums, and pipes that emit a noise not unlike the scream of a bagpipe. It is a bewildering, exciting noise, which, after awhile, begins to heat the brain and hurry the pulse. In the midst of it, a young woman rises, swathed about in silks and muslins, and with bangles and necklaces jingling and sparkling at every movement. Her body sways easily between her haunches, and her air is partly indolent and partly suggestive of latent vigor. As she faces the audience, undulations pass through her body; and these undulations are not only lateral, but vertical. Any one who has observed the belly of a snake in motion has seen the counterpart of this movement.

While the undulations are going on, the girl is in other respects performing a slow, graceful and languid dance. Her arms rise and fall and wave about her head; she turns her face from side to side, and occasionally smiles as if in a voluptuous dream; her feet shifting rhythmically and without haste; and ever and anon she turns completely round, but always slowly and deliberately. The marvel and singularity of the performance lies in the undulations of the front of the body. It is impossible for a European to produce even the germ of such a movement. The girls have been trained from early childhood in the use of groups of muscles of the very existence of which we are ignorant. Their control of them is absolute. The extent and power of the contractions is astonishing.

In a European it would be almost revolting, but in these Oriental damsels the effect is different. We recognize that the "dance" is natural to them; that it belongs to their race and genius, and that it has come down to them from an epoch as ancient as the sides of the pyramids and the infancy of Buddha. It is not to be criticised by our crude contemporary standards of convention, fashion or morality; it is to be accepted, wondered at, for what it is, and has been since the East was the East.

RARE SPORT.

Chicago Capitalists Shooting Prepared Game in the South.

Recently a large party of wealthy gentlemen from Chicago visited the electric city of the South seeking an investment for the superfluous lumps, and having a little spare time on their hands resolved to make up a hunting team, says the Boston Traveller. Big stories of wild turkey in abundance about the mountains had been floated about the Hotel De Kalb, and enthusiasm crept under the vest of the fortune hunters in large majorities. A well-known trapper was approached, who tumbled to the scheme at once, but knowing that wild turkey did not abound in that region to any great extent he set his wits working, and resolved to keep up his reputation as well as that of the country where he was a prophet. Procuring half a dozen good turkeys from a near farmer and a bright lad to tend them, he located both in a lonesome place up the mountain and left them to their fate, with instructions to keep track of them for so many hours, and where they went to scatter paper scent, a la hare and hounds, that the trapper might track them. Bright and early the next day came the party, eager for mountain game, and the guide hitting the scent easily was not long in scaring a bird. Bang! bang! bang! bang! and the wildest specimen in all Alabama came down with a flutter of wild feathers, an easy victim to Chicago's prowess.

In a short space of time five more rare birds were bagged, but the hunt kept on unabated, until the sun commenced to slant his evening rays, when the mighty hunters resolved that the whole family were slaughtered, and, weary of the sport, betook a homeward course. Great was the curiosity at the hotel to see the fruits of the hunt, and congratulations were in order all round. The next day the Chicago gentlemen left for home, carrying those six wild-tame turkeys, and are probably to-day telling their friends of the sport they had in the mountains of Alabama shooting wild fowl.

The trapper thought the story too good to keep, and thus it leaked out.

A Fish That Carried a Watch.

A salmon taken at Astoria, Ore., recently had a silver watch and chain in its mouth. The watch had evidently lain in the water for years, as the steel portions crumbled to dust when touched. Its presence in the salmon's mouth is accounted for by the fact that salmon at this time of the year will eagerly bite at any bright object, and the watch and chain had been caught by the net dragging on the bottom. As it was hauled in it attracted the attention of the salmon and he took it in.

Oh, What an Awful Breath.

There is nothing more healthful than onions. The trouble is that persons are afraid to eat them because they make the breath unfragrant. But there is a less fragrant breath than that freighted with onions. We mean the breath of a person with a foul stomach. Take him away! we inwardly cry when he whispers in our ear. Do see that your breath is pure. Take a few Brandreth's Pills and regulate your liver, stomach and bowels and your breath will be sweet.

Several years ago Chamberlain & Co., of Des Moines, Iowa, commenced the manufacture of a cough syrup, believing it to be the most prompt and reliable preparation yet produced for coughs, colds and croups; that the public appreciate true merit, and in time it was certain to become popular. Their most sanguine hopes have been more than realized. Over three hundred thousand bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy are now sold every year, and it is recognized as "the best made," wherever known. It will cure a severe cold in less time than any other treatment. For sale by Shoemaker & Co., druggist.

The New Discovery.

You have heard your friends and neighbors talking about it. You may yourself be one of the many who know from personal experience just how good a thing it is. I you have ever tried it, you are one of its staunch friends, because the wonderful thing about it is, that when once given a trial, Dr. King's New Discovery ever after holds a place in the house. If you have never used it and should be afflicted with a cough, cold, or any Throat, Lung or Chest trouble, secure a bottle at once and give it a fair trial. It is guaranteed every time, or money refunded. Trial bottle free at Wm. Pinniger's drug store

There is no danger of a cold resulting in pneumonia when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used as directed "for a severe cold." It effectually counteracts and arrests any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia. This fact was wholly proven in thousands of cases during the epidemic of influenza last winter. For sale by Shoemaker & Co., druggists.

The First Step.

Perhaps you are run down, can't eat, can't sleep, can't think, can't do anything to your satisfaction, and you wonder what ails you. You should heed the warning, you are taking the first step into Nervous Prostration. You need a nerve tonic, and in Electric Bitters you will find the exact remedy for restoring your nervous system to its normal, healthy condition. Surprising results follow the use of this great nerve tonic and alterative. Your appetite returns, good digestion is restored and the Liver and Kidneys resume healthy action. Try a bottle. Price 50c, at Wm. Pinniger's Drug Store.

How to Break up a Severe Cold.

From the Virginia City, Mont. Madisonian.

When we find a medicine we know to possess genuine merit, we consider it a duty, and we take pleasure in telling the public what it is. Such a medicine we found Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. By the use of this syrup we have relieved, in a few hours, severe colds, and in the course of two or three days, entirely broken them up as has several of our friends to whom we have recommended it. It is all it is represented to be by the manufacturers. If you have a cough and want to stop it, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will do the work Sold by Shoemaker & Co., druggists.

OVERLAND MEMORIES.

And Some Recall Them With Pleasant Satisfaction and Wish They Were Here Again.

The closing days of the great overland stage line, inaugurated by Ben Holliday, were in many respects the most prosperous and interesting in its history. The line was purchased from him by Wells, Fargo & Co. some time in 1867 under the impression that it was, on account of the mail subsidy, a paying concern. But the new purchasers soon found a different state of affairs existing, and instead of dividends the assessments that loomed up soon effected their stock, and within a year it was quoted in the New York stock boards at 37 cents on a par value of 100. The subsidy paid by the government of $3,000,000 a year was more than absorbed by the heavy expense of operating the line, and added to this was the fact that the Pacific railroads were being pushed to completion, and soon the rolling stock of the stage company would be valueless. The history of its final windup will not be repeated here, but the fact is well known to the pioneers of twenty-two years ago that had it not been for some shrewd manipulation whereby Wells, Fargo & Co. secured a twenty years lease over the lines of the Central Pacific the company would have passed out of existence. As was stated at the opening of this sketch the

LAST DAYS OF THE OVERLAND

Were its greatest. Travel increased from various causes, and Harry Mountfort, the Sacramento agent, had the pleasure of seeing many way bills with a full passenger list booked in San Francisco and started from Sacramento by him for the long trip to Omaha. The McLane management of the line was liberal in the extreme; high salaries were the rule, and the most accomplished agents and skillful drivers were employed, and $300 a month as a salary secured crack whips whose names are as familiar to the pioneers as are the statesmen of the present day. It is not the intention to here make personal mention of the many popular names associated with the memories of those prosperous days of the great overland stage times, as this introduction is only preliminary to the fact of the great popularity of the line, which also enjoyed the confidence of the public to an extent that gave it the well deserved reputation of old reliability. In illustration of this the writer recalls an incident that occurred during the fall of 1868, when the rush to White Pine began, and caused rival lines to enter the field from Austin eastward. For some time Wells, Fargo & Co. made no effort to secure the trade and continued running on the old overland road that ran north of the district where the travel was headed for. But as it increased the company diverted from the old route and ran

DIRECT TO THE MECCA

That was attracting the surplus population of the Pacific coast. This was an irresistible result, for the stampede to White Pine was considered the greatest silver excitement known in modern times while it lasted, and the trade was well worth enjoying. The road from Austin led by the present town of Eureka and across the Diamond mountains, and along this part of it, the grade was not then completed. The stages were always loaded heavily on top with express freight, and it was usual for passengers to walk a great part of the way up Diamond mountain, for the loads were too heavy for the teams. As this was the custom with the rival lines on the same road, no one ever objected, for people were eager to make speed. On one occasion however, Wells, Fargo & Co's. coach contained a grouty old passenger who refused to get out and walk on the ride up the mountain. The driver, told him all right, but if he would ride he must take the chances, and proceeded slowly up the hill. The other passengers were all ahead climbing the hill and creating an appetite for the coming breakfast, when

A CRASH WAS HEARD

And the stage was seen to slowly roll over on its side, caused by the shelving grade and top heavy load. The passengers hastened back to help the driver, and were busied at once in extricating the passenger who was imprisoned in the wreck and moaning in great distress. He was finally released and offers of friendly assistance were numerous. An examination disclosed the fact that no bones were broken, but he seemed in great mental distress, and to relieve him the passengers assured him he was all right; he was told to brace up, and the bottle was pressed upon him as an aid. He took a good swig, and as he composed himself for a final shaking together, he disclosed the cause of his mental perturbation, by explaining, that the agent assured him when he bought his ticket "that this line never upset."

"Gazette" Weather Service.

The storm which has just left us came from the NW and traveled SE. This is a favorable movement for this region, carrying the precipitation into the drier central parts of the State. This it has done, and enough rain has fallen over a large portion of the State to insure a good crop of small grain and hay for the coming season. There will be no lack of moisture throughout the State this year. The snowfall of the night of the 25th was 7 inches deep, and melted, gave water .5 inches. So that the total rainfall for this winter so far has been 1 inch and .84. The barometer is above the average this morning and we shall now have some fine weather and cold nights.

The Negro Exodus.

Owing to the growing uneasiness and restlessness among the colored people of Arkansas, the Democratic members of the Legislature have promised to create one congressional district in the black belt, provided the negroes will discouage the threatened exodus to Oklahomo. After the passage of the Separate Coach Act by the Senate the other day many prominent colored men held a secret caucus with distinguished members of the Democratic party, and it is reported a satisfactory agreement was reached by which the black congressional district is to be formed.

THE SKEDADDLE DAM GONE.

The Rush of Water During the Late Storm Was Too Much for It—A Loss of $30,000.

One of the disasters of the late storm and one that is to be deplored, was the sweeping away of the dam of the Honey Lake Water Company on Skedaddle creek on the east side of Honey Lake Valley, and which involves a loss to the company of at least $30,000, as it will require that much to replace it, and whether it can be done for that sum is a question, as from past experience the company may find that it may require more, for this is the third time that the dam has given away. The company have expended, it is stated, about $130,000 in preparations made to utilize the waters of Skedaddle creek, and they were ready to reclaim 42,000 acres of the lands of Honey Lake Valley. To do this required extensive preparations. After the water was cached by the dam it was discharged through three pipes of 22 inch diameter into the bed of the creek, down which it flowed for four miles, where it entered a canal 60 feet wide and 6 feet deep that was to convey it to needed points in the valley. At the commencement of the late storm there was no water in the dam, and to guard against the danger of a break, the discharge gates were left wide open. But they proved insufficient, and the rush of water from the mountains was so great that the lake was filled to the top of the the dam, or 47 feet in four hours' time, and finally carried it away. It is a serious set-back to the company's operations, and they may conclude that the Skedaddle is not worth a dam of the same sort and a more expensive one may be needed.

Storm Notes.

At the Summit yesterday the barometer reached the lowest point to which it has ever been known to descend. It registered 22.25.

The landslides on the Oregon road were all reported removed from the track yesterday, with the exception of one near the Ninth Crossing of the Sacramento river, a short distance this side of Sims.

There will be no connection at Lathrop with the Los Angeles train for several days. A big washout has occurred in Soledad Canyon, and serious damage has been done to the track. Bridges have been washed away, and it is thought that several days will be required to repair the road.

The American river commenced to roll its extra volume of water into the Sacramento yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, and the latter stream rose steadily during the day. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon it marked 19 feet 6 inches on the gauge, and last night at 10 o'clock it had reached the 20-foot mark at Sacramento. It is still rising, and probably will go a couple of feet higher when the water from the upper Sacramento reaches there.

AN EVENING WITH WARMAN.

An Elocutionary Treat that Comes Only Once in a While.

It was a small audience that greeted Warman at the Opera House last night, but it was an appreciative one that testified frequently to the satisfaction enjoyed over the elocutionary treat which chained their attention to its close. The night was too cold to attract many from the warmth of the home fireside, otherwise his audience would have been larger. His national reputation of being one of the finished readers and elocutionists of the day should secure a full house on Thursday evening next. He should be heard by every student of the University and of the schools generally, for the art is one that is sadly neglected in these latter days, and it is rare that students have the opportunity to study from a model of such excellence.

The Lottery Fight.

The Louisiana Lottery interest is making a desperate fight for existence. It has established a considerable number of "patent outside" papers in the country parishes, and it proposes to put up a complete lottery ticket for all the offices from Governor to Constable at the next election. It has large pecuniary resources, of which it is ready to make the most unscrupulous use. Its avowed purpose is to elect a Governor and Legislature by whose aid a Constitutional Convention can be called, which will engraft a lottery charter in the constitution for fifty or a hundred years.

To be Robbed of Health

By a pestilential climate, by a vocation entailing constant exposure, physical overwork or sedentary drudgery at the desk, is a hard lot. Yet many persons originally possessed of a fair constitution suffer this deprivation before the meridian of life is passed. To any and all subject to conditions inimical to health, no purer or more agreeable preservative of the greatest of earthly blessings can be recommended than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which inures the system to climatic change, physical fatigue and mental exhaustion. It eradicates dyspepsia, the bane of sedentary brain workers, preserves and restores regularity of the bowels and liver, when disordered from any cause, annihilates fever and ague and prevents it, checks a tendency to rheumatism and gout, and neutralizes the danger of being apprehended from causes productive of kidney, bladder and uterine ailments. To be convinced of the truth of these statements, it is only necessary to give this sterling preparation an impartial trial.

Life will acquire new zest, and cheerfulness return, if you will impel your liver and kidneys to the performance of their functions Dr J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm will stimulate them to healthful action. $1.00 per bottle.

A BUSINESS PROPOSITION.

A City Lady Who Required Proof Before Believing.

There recently appeared in the San Francisco Call, Chronicle, and Examiner, a proposition hitherto unheard of. It was an advertisement in which the Edwin W. Joy Company, in proof of the curative properties of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, offered to submit it to the terrific test of "no cure no pay." Many accepted, and their experiences are so convincing as to be almost beyond belief. Here is another, written under date January 6, 1890:—

DEAR SIRS: I accepted your offer to test the merits of your vegetable remedy in sick headaches, and called for a bottle and got it. I had been troubled for a long time, and had tried nearly everything, with little or no effect; but Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla acted almost like magic, and the first bottle relieved me from one of the worst cases of sick headache one ever had.

GENTLEMEN: I have been troubled with bad blood for some years, but recently purchased two bottles of Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup, which has entirely cured me. As a blood purifier it has no equal, and I also take pleasure in recommending it as a tonic, alterative, and reliable rheumatic remedy

Very truly yours,

A HORSE WHO CAN TALK!

Everybody has heard of a "horse laugh," but who has ever seen an equine gifted with the power of speech? Such an animal would be pronounced a miracle; but so would the telegraph and the telephone a hundred years ago. Why, even very recently a cure for consumption, which is universally acknowledged to be scrofula affecting the lungs, would have been looked upon as miraculous, but now people are beginning to realize that the disease is not incurable. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure it, if taken in time and given a fair trial. This world-renowned remedy will not make new lungs, but it will restore diseased ones to a healthy state when other means have failed. Thousands gratefully testify to this. It is the most potent tonic, or strength-restorer, alterative, or blood-cleanser and nutritive, or flesh-builder, known to medical science. For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh in the Head, and all Lingering Coughs, it is an unequaled remedy. In derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels, as Indigestion, or Dyspepsia, Biliousness, or "Liver Complaint," Chronic Diarrhœa, and kindred ailments, it is a sovereign remedy.

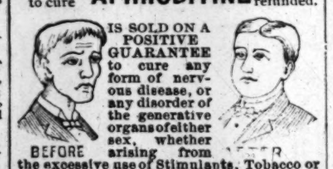

"Golden Medical Discovery" is the only medicine of its class, sold by druggists, under a printed guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will benefit or cure in every case of disease for which it is recommended, or money paid for it will be promptly refunded.

FRONTIER JOURNALISM.

An Old Journalist's Entertaining Reminiscences.

The Troubles and Trials of a Tempestuous Tramp Typographer—The Uncertainties of Border Journalism.

"I recall a time in the earlier 80's," said an old newspaper man, "when I was working on the Las Vegas Gazette. The paper is dead now and buried. I wasn't getting the pay of a prince, but, after all, my debts weren't increasing more than ten dollars a week, and, as that's low for me, I was satisfied. One day, however, around came the grasping capitalist who owned the sheet and said that as times were hard and all the other common usual reasons existed, he had concluded to make a horizontal reduction on salaries. I took some time trying to make clear to him why he could not horizontal my stipend, but his thick head refused somehow to grasp it; so I wound up by discharging him.

"I had just hung about three columns of 'copy' on the hook for the weekly edition and being ill disposed to allow such ingrates as the Gazette people to possess this prize, without money and without price, I stepped into the composing-room and tore it up. It would have been better if I had stolen a horse, or murdered a man or committed some more trivial offense. The Gazette's was a union office and the mere matter of taking this copy off the hook and tearing it, it would seem from the attitude and language of the printers then and there assembled, that I was, under the rules of their union, guilty of at least eighteen different crimes, all punishable by death. They all left their cases and gathered around with eyes that boded evil, and it looked for a minute as though there was going to be a lynching and the Gazette would get a scoop on it. But the foreman interfered and pacified them with the assurance that the copy would be charged in composition to the paper, just as if it had been set up, and the amount divided. At this the flames died in their eyes and they returned to their peaceful art again, while I escaped.

"Being now a person of leisure I repaired to the plaza and gaining access without trouble to one of the many drinking shops which line this historic square, I became very merry and kept so until about three o'clock a. m. It was a bad hour and being in no mood for travel, I concluded not to go to my hotel, the St. Nicholas, away over in East Las Vegas, and so camped down on an unused monte table and slept very soundly until day.

"The next noon found me still merry and adorning a seat in front of Billy Melindy's hotel over in front of the depot. I had just purchased a bottle of fire water from Mr. Melindy, not because I needed it, but on account of its being, as he assured me, of a very particular and sacred sort and invested with great power for good and evil, when the passenger train bound north pulled in for dinner. This sight suggested travel and I at once climbed aboard in happy consort with my pint from Willow Run. I had no especial town in mind to favor with my appearance and concluded to get off at Watrous, the next station. To make sure I would get off and to invoke special attention to that end from the train officials, I declined to pay my fare. It is needless to say I was very successful in this, and when the train drew up at Watrous there were three brakemen and the conductor all there to see that I did not get carried by.

"Well, I got off all right and so did the Willow Run, and as the journey had fatigued me greatly I at once sought an eligible nook in the scenery and lay me down to rest. Some three hours passed over my head when I was awakened by the rough tongue of a tame antelope, who stood over me licking my countenance, and with whom I had grown very popular even in my sleep. As I looked about at the collection of 'dobe houses, with which the plain was sparsely sown, I saw a big sign which said 'saloon,' in large, calm letters. I was glad to see this sign. No midnight mariner when he sees the coast light that marks the harbor of his home and love, feels any better. I resolved to go here for information. Inside I was delighted to find in the barkeep an old and treasured friend. When I saw him in Deming some months before, he was called 'Black Jack,' and he told me he still bore that name; although seeing that he was going over to Wagon mound in a few days he might change it; as a person bearing that name four years before had been the author of some very lively history in Wagon mound which the inhabitants still recalled, and he didn't care to be mistaken by them for the historian.

"While conversing with Jack my eye fell on a handsome eight-page weekly lying on a poker table which bore the name: The Mora County Pioneer. Jack pointed out the 'dobe from which the Pioneer had emanation, and I at once went over. Here I found two gentlemen named Alvah and Jackman, who combined in their persons the editorial, business and mechanical forces of the paper. They were glad to see me, and in ten minutes I was installed as editor with a third of the profits for pay.

"Well, we got out the paper all right and I remained there some six weeks and then shook hands all 'round and went down to Socorro. We made money, too, but I got tired of it. Each week we would pick out some rancher who lived somewhere as near as twenty miles and give him a very flattering 'personal' about two columns in length. Then Jackman would borrow a horse of the corral man next door and ride over to the rancher in a casual way, show him the notice and borrow a hundred from him. I never knew it to fail. I wanted to write three or four 'personals' every issue, but it wouldn't work, as Jackman was too lazy to collect on more than one. The last I heard of the volatile persons—Alvah and Jackman—they were getting out a paper down in the White Oaks country."—Kansas City Star.

HOW WOMEN WALK.

About One Out of Twenty-Five Knows How to Lift and Put Down Her Feet.

It's a very easy thing to do, walking, learned so long ago in every woman's youth that she scarcely remembers how or when she was taught to put one foot before the other, how she learned to move with shambling or dignified motions; and so strong upon her is the force of habit long continued that rarely, rarely in later years of girl or young ladyhood, can she be brought to a consciousness of the defects in her carriage, and persuaded to alter them for more graceful movements, as she passes to and fro upon the face of the earth.

Just one out of twenty-five women seen passing down a crowded street knows how to hold her body and how to lift up and set down her feet naturally. This is the result of long observation on the part of the writer, who, moreover, remarks that that one redeeming woman is but a passable walker, says a writer in the Illustrated American.

Now, only that woman who goes in for athletic exercises, or has harkened to long lectures from the dress reformers, ever takes thought as to her daily bearing in public and at home. It is sufficient that she is not hunchbacked or conspicuously ungraceful, and though she doesn't know it, all those long, flowing skirt draperies, from waist to foot, hide for her a multitude of what might almost be deformities—ugly, unpleasing movements, that in a man go under the uncompromising terms of knock-kneed, bow-legged, splay-footed and so on, but in her are hidden, and only obtrude by the uneasy steps, switching skirts and lift of shoulders, by the weak droop of shoulders, undignified bend of the head and poise of arms—all of which go to make up the irregular outlines of an ugly figure.

In those early days, when a toddling baby, much of this unbeautifulness of carriage was learned, nor was it corrected; and as very few women consider more than facial beauty necessary for happiness, they never pause a moment before the mirror and regard attentively the contours of the body, and, walking back and forth, halt to judge whether the motion is regular and full of ease.

FLY-EATING PLANTS.

Some Strange Things Seen in the Gardens at Washington.

Did you ever see plants that live on flies or mosquitoes? Hearing of them, I took a stroll through the botanical gardens at Washington, and inquired of the superintendent about the truth of the story, says a writer in the Philadelphia Times.

"Oh! yes, we have some such things," he said, "and here is one now." He pointed to a pot containing what seemed to be moss. But in this green mass could be seen tiny shells, like baby clam shells, only they were thin and green and only half open. Along the edges were green hairs like eyelashes.

"You see a fly goes in here," he explained, as he opened the two halves, "and when he gets in the leaves close. Then the fly can't get out. Then he dies and his substance is absorbed by the bad little flower. It grows only in South Carolina.

"Here is what I call the beer saloon," he continued. "You see this is shaped like a pitcher, hangs from a long stem and has a curved lid. Inside is a fluid that intoxicates all insects that drink it. They are then absorbed by the plant. This other one, like a round, hollow tulip stem, is of the same nature.

"Then, here is a big green pitcher plant. Well, frogs climb into this to drink from the fluid at the bottom. But they can't get out, for when they try to a couple of sharp horns in the lid overhead stab them in the back."

Could any one dream that an innocent, fragrant flower could be so heartless? It butchers its victim after luring it into an intoxicating den, and then feeds on the mangled remains.

"This on the board is what we call stag-moss. You see it grows on the side of the house from a clump of brown leaves like a deer's head. From it branch out four large green prongs of leaves exactly like horns. Of all curious plants this about the oddest. These green leaves are spotted with white and you can always trace a face on the outlines, and I call it the caricature plant."

A Swimming Rooster.

It is not often that a rooster has any particular desire to take a bath, but a Port Orange (N. J.) bird showed that, under the pressure of necessity, he could swim like a duck, says the New York Sun. He was chased by a dog to the edge of the Morris canal, and, seeing no other mode of escape, he jumped in. The dog followed, but the rooster, using both wings and feet as propellers, forged rapidly through the water. The canal is very broad at that place, and he looked over his shoulder several times to see whether his pursuer was gaining on him or not. He was clearly the faster swimmer of the two, and when he struggled up to the opposite bank the dog was a bad second. The triumphant rooster stood upon the shore, crooked his neck and crowed until he couldn't see; and while thus indulging in self-laudation the dog landed and almost succeeded in catching him by the tail. He had hardly time to save himself by fluttering into a tree.

Officers in Germany's Army.

Special measures are being taken in Germany to increase the number of officers in the army. At present the scarcity of officers is unprecedentedly great, and, especially in the Prussian regiments, commissions have been going begging. All the courses of instruction in the various military academies will be shortened so that there may be at least fifty per cent. more young officers turned out in the same length of time than are graduated at present.

A Check Upon Poor Books.

The ministry of education in Russia has issued a circular forbidding all persons of high standing in the management of schools and colleges to allow authors to dedicate their works to them. Works of a very indifferent and, and in some instances, even of an objectionable nature, if they are dedicated to persons of renown in the educational circles, necessarily enjoy the patronage of those persons and find more readers than is desirable.
